

---

Tetsuya Furukawa

Department of Economics

Professor

Email: sohira@tiu.ac.jp

■ Education

---

1996 Doctor course completed in Economics – Department of Economics, Keio University

1993 Master in Economics. – Department of Economics, Keio University

1991 B.A. – Department of Economics, Keio University

■ Teaching and Research Interests

---

Microeconomics, Game Theory, Applications of Game Theory to Economic Policy

■ Academic Appointments

---

2008 – Professor, Tokyo International University

2001– 2003 Visiting Scholar, University of Minnesota

2001– 2008 Associate Professor, Tokyo International University

1996–2001 Assistant Professor, Tokyo International University

■ Fellowships & Grants

■ Selected Publications/Conference Papers

---

“The Impact of Changes in Reservation Utility on Two-Period Contracts: A Numerical Analysis ” The Journal of Tokyo International University, Economic Research, Vol. 10, 2026 (in Japanese)

“A Role of Regional Financial Institutions: An Analysis with Perfect Bayesian Equilibrium” The Journal of Tokyo International University, Economic Research, Vol. 5, 2021 (in Japanese)

“An Analysis of Industry Promotion Policies”, Discussion Paper Series, Tokyo International University, 2013,

“On the Strategic Behavior of Information Service Company”, RIMS Kokyuroku, Kyoto University, 2007.

“Strategic Behavior of Rating Agencies: An Analysis with the Reputation Model”, The Journal of Tokyo International University, Department of Economics, Vol. 37, 2007 (in Japanese)

Microeconomics (Mikuro Keizai-Gaku), SHINSEI-SHA, 2026 (in Japanese)

The Japanese Economy (Nihon Keizai-Ron), Baihu-kan, 2017 (in Japanese)

---